READ TO MAKE CONDITIONAL SENTENCES
A. Lyuba is Ukrainian. She had to catch a 9:00 AM flight to Oslo, and from Oslo to LAX. Lyuba woke up at 5:30 AM with plenty of time to get ready and make it to the airport. All her luggage was packed and at 6:45 AM she was already saying goodbye and was out the door. About 10 minutes later, Lyuba is in her taxi and she realizes she has forgotten her carry-on! She asks the taxi driver to turn back, but he tells her that she should just forget about her carry-on. Lyuba insists and she returns to get her carry-on. She ends up leaving her house, for the second time, at 7:15 AM. Lyuba gets to the airport an hour later. Ten minutes before 9 AM, the airport announces that all flights are cancelled until further notice. Finally at 10 PM, the airport announces that the flight for Oslo is ready for boarding. Lyuba arrives in Oslo the next morning, and of course, she has missed the connecting flight to Los Angeles. She waits 8 more hours in Oslo and finally boards the plane bound for LAX. Finally, at LAX, she waits patiently for her luggage. It never shows up. Lyuba is very jet-lagged and upset because of all her bad luck. But at least she has her carry-on!

B. Giulia is from Italy. On a trip to San Francisco she was assigned a seat in row 17. Some Italians are superstitious about the number 17, which in Roman numerals looks like “I have lived.” She thought about saying something to the stewardesses, but thought it might be silly. When Giulia arrived at the airport, her luggage never arrived! Giulia blames her bad luck on the unlucky flight number and regrets not having changed her seat.

C. Last year, Jorge travelled to Paris, London, Sydney, Barcelona, Cambodia, India and Greece! Jorge’s family is Columbian, and he had seen his family run around town with packed suitcases every New Year. Hoping that it would bring him luck and travels, Jorge had been careful to increase his good fortune by running around his own neighborhood in Los Angeles. It worked so well, he plans on doing this every year!
